

SOLUTION

The family tree is represented using facts for parents and rules for deriving other relationships. Prolog's logical inference is used to find relationships between family members.