

PROBLEM STATEMENT

In two-player games, a large number of possible moves can make the game tree very large. The Alpha-Beta Pruning algorithm improves the Minimax algorithm by eliminating branches that cannot affect the final decision.

The objective is to implement Alpha-Beta Pruning for a simple Tic-Tac-Toe game, allowing the computer to choose the best move while avoiding unnecessary game-tree evaluations.